The three main approaches to Corporate Governance, being Principle-Based approach, Rules-Based approach, were discussed. A comparison of the Rule Based approach (followed by U.S) and the Principle-Based approach (followed by the E.U) was discussed.

The third approach, Industry Self Regulation Approach, was analysed along with its nature, benefits & drawbacks. A Historical perspective of the corporate abuses was presented by the resource person, inferring how laws are a reaction (how) of the corporate scandals. An example of such reaction is explained.

The resource person explains how PCAOB (Public Company Accounting Oversight Board) was created under Sox Act, which establishes standards; discipline audit firms.

The Sox Act, applies to all the companies in US market, thus affecting, domestic & foreign companies. The argument was made against the legislation stating it as a overreach, not effective while a few applauded its long-run effectiveness.

The need for independent directors along with relevant rules requiring the same, were also discussed with help of various case studies. Efficiency of directors & limit in directorship are also stated with relevant rules.
